Being a parent puts a lot of stress on our relationships.

We manage to make it through a challenging
moment with our children, and we turn around and scream at our partners.
Co-parenting can be a real challenge, especially if we're trying to be conscious about how we raise our children.

This two session workshop for couples will be a chance to:

* Learn ways to handle those stressful parenting moments when we don't agree with our partner. How do we support each other?

* Explore the tools of nonviolence as it relates to our partners. How do we treat each other with respect?

* Model for our children.
What does a healthy relationship look like?

*This class will be held at Echo Parenting, 1226 N Alvarado
St. Los Angeles, CA 90026.*
