Child Care Included

No one is turned away for the lack of funds

Every parent and every child has experienced deep feelings of frustration and anger. You are not alone! Raising children is a really hard job!

In this ten session class, we'll introduce a philosophy and practice of parenting based on the latest research about brain and child development.

Through discussion groups, theory, role playing, and specific problem solving, we will:

* Learn to set clear and respectful boundaries

* Explore ourselves and our children through a lens of empathy and understanding.

* Identify strategies and tools that will help you successfully create the parenting relationship you want with your child.

Court/Agency referred, please contact us for further information at 213.484.6676.
