Every parent (and every child) has experienced deep feelings of frustration and anger. You are not alone! *Raising children is a really hard job!

In this twelve hour intensive,
we'll introduce a philosophy and practice of raising children
based on the latest research
about child development,
attachment theory, interpersonal

neurobiology and more.

Content will include:

- Exploring ourselves and our children through a lens of empathy and understanding.
- Teaching emotional intelligence by learning a language of feelings and needs.

- Setting respectful, clear boundaries.
- Exploring strategies and tools that will help you successfully create the parenting relationship you want with your child.

Space is limited, so register now.

RAISING CHILDREN WITH CARE. RAISING CHILDREN TO CARE.

About Echo Parenting and Education

At Echo Parenting and Education, we're dedicated to reimagining the parent/child dynamic. We offer program participants a whole new way of looking at family building. We help people throughout the community move away from fear-based judging toward empathetic nurturing. And we're all about raising children with care and building loving respectful families.

Since 2000, Echo Parenting has been helping families in Los Angeles and around the world. Please visit echoparenting.org to learn more, and join the global movement of parents and professionals who dare to imagine a world in which all children are raised with empathy and compassion, free from physical and emotional harm.

About Nonviolence

The term "nonviolence" describes a commitment to treat oneself and others with deep respect. It is a belief in the basic goodness of all living things. Nonviolence is an all-encompassing perspective. It includes our thoughts, feelings, words, and actions. What we think and say matters.

The philosophy and practice of nonviolence in parenting applies the ideas of nonviolence to the relationship between parents and children. Their connection allows the child to learn to be a caring and empathetic human being, fulfilling his or her own dreams and wishes and at the same time supporting the dreams and wishes of others. Violence begets violence, while nonviolence begets nonviolence.
