

Trauma-Informed Nonviolent Child Raising Training & Certification Course (TCC)

Echo Parenting & Education is now accepting applications for the 2015-2016 Trauma-Informed Nonviolent Child Raising Training and Certification Course (TCC). This course is designed to provide in-depth training in the nonviolent approach to child raising as well as an introduction to the emerging and rapidly evolving field of developmental trauma. The two-part course is comprised of a 100-hour theoretical overview, followed by a practicum. Upon successful completion of the practicum, participants will be certified as an Echo Parenting & Education Parent Educator.

Part One -Theoretical Overview of Nonviolent Child Raising and Developmental Trauma: A 100-hour intensive course of study led by Ruth Beaglehole (founder and former Executive Director of Echo Parenting & Education) to review the principles and practices of nonviolent child raising and the research that informs it. In an alive, creative, and dynamic learning environment participants will be immersed in the philosophical underpinnings and pedagogical framework for teaching parent education in multiple settings. This will be the second year of incorporating a trauma curriculum, which covers the neurobiology of trauma, identifying trauma responses and symptoms, regulation strategies, and trauma recovery.

Part Two - Practicum: An eight-week practicum for participants who have completed the first part of TCC and wish to become certified in the Echo Parenting & Education nonviolent parenting curriculum. The main goal of the practicum is to provide opportunities to practice teaching with supervision from Ruth and Echo staff who will provide feedback and support to facilitate development of skills. Participation in the practicum does not guarantee certification. Certification will be determined on an individual basis during the practicum.

Requirements: Applicants must have completed at least one series of Echo Parenting & Education's Nonviolent Parenting Classes. If you have not completed a series, please contact the Program Manager to discuss options. Acceptance into TCC is based upon complete application submission and face to face interview with key program staff.

Dates: Attendance at all sessions is mandatory. If you have a conflict or emergency, contact the Program Manager. Class will meet every three weeks for one weekend over six weeks starting September 16, 2015 and ending January 10, 2016. Class is held on Saturdays and Sundays, from 9:30am to 5:00pm.
