

World exclusive! Paper Tigers Educational Premier

Paper Tigers the movie, follows a year in the life of the students and teachers at Lincoln High School – an alternative high school in Walla Walla, WA – that has radically changed its approach to disciplining its students. Directed by Jamie Redford, the film examines how this school has become a promising model for breaking the cycles of poverty, violence and other toxic stress that affect many of our families and communities.

Echo will be screening film clips from the new Paper Tigers Educational Video Toolkit, which comprises 5 unique video segments, such as “What are Adverse Childhood Experiences;” “How To Connect With Students;” “Lighthouse Parenting;” and “The Biology of Toxic Stress.”

In addition to the video toolkit, the complete Paper Tigers Educational Package includes the original film on DVD with Spanish subtitles and SDH captions, and a downloadable Paper Tigers facilitation discussion guide developed by Prevent Child Abuse America.

Our thanks to Lynn Waymer and the other staff at KPJR Films for allowing us to bring you this exciting opportunity.
